

Some Prize Winners and Typical Scenes on Fair Grounds

AWARDING PRIZES NOT AN EASY TASK

Judges Conclude Part of Work and Will Take Up Rest of List To-Day.

Although the judges put in hard work yesterday, they did not conclude the task, which is difficult in the extreme. Leading the list is the live stock exhibit, which is conceded to be the finest ever brought together at any fair in Virginia.

The list follows:

PRESIDENTS OF OTHER FAIRS HERE

Commend Big Event and Take Great Interest in Various Exhibits.

Two presidents of Virginia agricultural fairs and an ex-president of one are attending the Virginia state fair—John L. Vaughan, president of the District Fair, Radford; J. M. B. Lewis, president of the Interstate Fair, Lynchburg; and Charles T. Price, ex-president of the Botetourt County Fair, Fincastle.

Mr. Vaughan is also president of the Virginia Breeding and Training Association, and has a number of horses here to participate in this week's races. His mare, Minnie Thompson, won second money in the 214 pace Tuesday, having taken the first heat in 2:15 1-4. Her record is 2:14 1-4. Mr. Vaughan is a railroad builder and general contractor, and president of the Vaughan Construction Company, Roanoke. His firm has just been awarded the building of the Potts Creek branch of the Norfolk and Western Railway, which extension will be twenty-two miles in length. Mr. Vaughan is accompanied by his wife.

Mr. Lewis is a member of a firm of architects and builders in Lynchburg, and is a running horse enthusiast, owning several fast ones. About four months ago in riding one of his horses over jumps he was thrown, and sustained a fractured leg. The injury has caused a lameness in the limb, which, it is hoped, will only be temporary. Mr. Lewis reports that the Lynchburg Fair, held last week, was a gratifying financial success. He served yesterday on the judges' stand as one of the officials of the State Fair races.

Charles T. Price is a farmer, and owns a large plantation on the James River, at Gala, in Botetourt county, about forty miles from the county seat. Some of the most picturesque scenery in Virginia is in the vicinity of his home, and for a number of years the late General Wade Hampton, of South Carolina, spent several weeks each summer near Mr. Price's home on fishing trips. The James River then abounded with bass, but the erection of large tanneries and other manufacturing establishments at Clifton Forge, twelve miles above Gala, has resulted in the destruction of nearly all the fish, caused by the running of acids into the river. Mr. Price is the father of Dr. Lawrence T. Price, of this city, with whom he is stopping.

SPRINKLE FOR PARADE

One Hundred and Fifty Automobiles to Appear at Fair.

Dr. L. T. Price, chairman of the automobile parade committee, yesterday afternoon with officials of the State Fair, in reference to having the Hermitage Road, as well as the Fair Grounds, sprinkled with water, but the committee decided to sprinkle shortly before the automobile parade to-morrow night, the event being given in honor of the automobile parade of Saturday afternoon, October 10th.

It was decided that this should be done, as the Hermitage Road, from Broad Street to the Fair Grounds, is covered all the way with
